Keynote

Leveraging dotONE Performance To Measure The Success Of An A/R Transformation Project

Every organization over the past two years has undergone some sort of transformation, large or small. No one can afford to stay stagnant with CFOs keenly observing every decision being made by their next level leaders. How can you convince your CFO that your transformation project is indeed a necessary one and that they must consider expanding the scope of automation within the A/R department?

Find out as our speaker shares a value realization framework and performance pillars for evaluating the success of an automation solution post-deployment.

Keynote

Finance Transformation How-To: Continuing Finance Transformation Projects Despite Severe Cash Fluctuation

In the first few months of the COVID pandemic, cash preservation was the go-to strategy for finance leaders across the US. Despite budget cuts and heavy scrutiny of every approved project, however, digital transformation adoption saw an increase, with 69% of finance executives admitting to signing off on one during the first few months of 2020.

Digital, it is clear, is a must for long-term sustainability and cash excellence. Despite a fluctuating economy, finance leaders have identified the need for a strategy that enables business process improvements and automation to ride out any uncertainty. In this session, our panel of experts will share crucial strategies for long-term financial success.

Keynote

The Future Of Enterprise Finance Software

Finance and technology leaders, CFOs, CIOs and Heads of GBS and Shared Services are all looking towards technology as a means for delivering business results and outcomes. In this session, learn how HighRadius is evolving its technology platform over the next few years to enable finance teams to do more with the latest in Machine Learning, AI, and RPA without creating a burden on internal IT resources or raising an army of data scientists.

The key points of discussion include:

- Introduction to Autonomous Software that would make humans and machines working together a reality in the office of the CFO
- Sneak-peek into how technology in finance will grow in the next few years with specific use cases showing how HighRadius products will lead the charge
- Deep-dive into the HighRadius dotONE vision across three pillars of culture, innovation and growth, and how it could apply to your organization.

Wednesday, April 27th | 8:40 AM

Keynote

Diversity, Equity, And Inclusion In Finance Leadership

Organizations often consider embracing inclusion, equity, and diversity as moral obligations. However, according to a 2020 McKinsey report, the business case for it as a source of competitive advantage is growing stronger. Having a gender and ethnically diverse leadership and workforce drives dollars to the bottom line, expands customer base and revenue streams, and produces tangible financial outcomes. To say nothing of the cultural and personal benefits.

This panel will address:

- How leaders are recruiting and developing diverse talent to address unique problem sets, create operational efficiencies and stay ahead of an increasingly complex financial services ecosystem
- Actionable steps needed to become more inclusive and maximize leadership team potential.
- Future of Work post COVID: Plan for a different future and opportunities for transformation beyond return-to-work

Wednesday, April 27th | 9:45 AM

Keynote

CFO Priorities In The New Normal And How Finance Departments Must Adapt

In this fireside chat, Fortune 500 CFOs will reveal their primary focus areas for 2022 and beyond and how those areas will deliver the next-level of value to all stakeholders. A must-attend for all finance department leaders, hear answers to the following questions:

- How do CFOs want their teams to function in 2022? What are the key expectations from each department?
- How can department executives and managers step up in the new normal to be seen as a strategic contributor in the office of the CFO?
- What are the other business priorities that CFOs would like to focus on, beyond just their revenue and pipeline?
