CONTRAQER

We built Contraqer GovIntel to help government contractors plan strategically, manage opportunities, identify teaming partners, and win more. Contraqer features modules like Opportunity Search, Profiles and Teaming (coming early 2022). Government contractors can subscribe to one, all, or any that fit their business.

Opportunity Search - Find and import your opportunities

Prioritizing all active solicitations to find opportunities in your wheelhouse, then importing data into your CRM or capture systems is tedious and error prone. Even finding a mod you are looking for can be challenging. With Contraqer, you can:

- Automatically import all solicitations with their attachments from any source you can access as a prime or sub
- Use scoring and keyword search to find what you're looking for
- Assign solicitations to capture teams
- Forward solicitations with attachments to your partners

Sales and capture teams quickly identify more of the opportunities they're looking for, then save significant time automatically importing information and engaging resources to win the business.
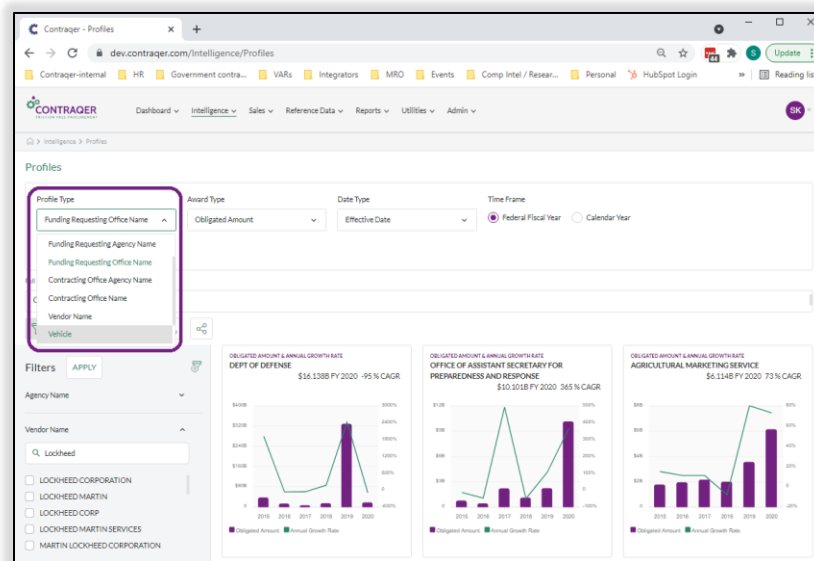

Profiles – use market intelligence to shape new business

Identifying existing technology and projects within an agency can be difficult and time consuming. Building an effective vendor / partner strategy and researching past prices can be equally challenging. With Contraqer, you can:

- Support proposal development with precise insight into past awards by agency and vendor
- Discover platform and brand preferences in agencies and programs
- Build a list of support services contracts with award and renewal dates
- Identify OEMs and partners selling through the channel and directly, and at what award price
- Find a last-minute partner when you shaped the opportunity, then see unanticipated additional requirements in the RFP or RFQ

Business Development and Outside Sales teams use our data visualization to gain insight and intelligence from government agencies and programs, and contractor companies and contacts to map accounts, position against competitors and win more business.

Teaming – Efficiently build a winning team

Coming in early 2022, use big data analytics to search teaming contact names, titles, emails and numbers. Identify the best-fit partners based on current and historic performance, socioeconomic status, and awards.
