

Press Release | January 27, 2022 – Bergen, Norway

Viknes and Sensor Marine Expand Partnership

For both Viknes and Sensor Marine, the North Sea is where we call home. Based in Bergen, Norway, both of our companies have been dedicated to creating products which will perform on the days when our home waters are at their best, but can also handle them at their worst.

Viknes has been a SmartBoat One dealer for over two years, and now the two companies have signed an agreement which means that newly produced boats in both the Viknes and Skilsø will come with SmartBoat One, pre-installed as a standard system.

"For us, this feels like a natural evolution of our relationship with Viknes, and an important strategic step for us. Viknes has proven time and again that their boats deliver high quality and attention to detail and we are proud that they believe our product meets the same standard," says Paal Kaperdal, CEO and Founder of Sensor Marine.

All newly produced Viknes and Skilsø boats will now give their users direct communication to their boat via the Sensor Marine App. This partnership is in line with our long-term goals together, which will include further development to add value to the Viknes and Skilsø customer experience.

"We have high standards for quality in everything we do, and that is also the expectation of our customers. At the same time, we're determined to continue developing and improving in order to maximize our customer experience both today, and in the future. Our agreement with Sensor Marine is in line with these goals, and we look forward to a fruitful partnership." says Kristian Sivertsen, Managing Director of Viknes.

Both Viknes and Sensor Marine design and produce their products in Norway.
