CONNECT

2-4 Minutes

Have any of you heard the song, “King of my Heart”? It is a great worship song to listen to if you haven’t heard it before. I want to share a little bit about some of the lyrics with all of you because they are encouraging to me.

The lyrics are a desire for God to be the one who is our drive and motivation for all we do. The reason for God to be the King of our hearts is because our hearts are what gives us life. So in turn, the hope for God to be the ultimate one giving us life in our lives.

But there two sections of repetitive lyrics that really stick out.

You are good. You’re good.

This is the first one and the second is:

You’re never gonna let me down. Never gonna let me down.

This interpretation may or may not be true, but I have loved to receive these lyrics in this manner.

The “you are good, you’re good” is us, speaking this to God. Telling God that he is good in our lives, that we receive Him as such and are grateful for what he does in our lives. No matter what is going on we can continually say and know that God is good. This is because we seek to have God be the life in our lives.

But the second part is what really gets me.

“You’re never gonna let me down, never gonna let me down”

Think of this as God speaking to us. God telling you, that no matter what you have done in your life, the missteps you make along the way, I still love you, care for you and desire you as a son or daughter.

How beautiful and life giving is this? The reassurance of God and the love extended towards us.

I pray you receive this today as we head out to serve those joining us in our community today and throughout your week. Look up the lyrics if you want or listen to the song to receive the message we can be reminded of from this song.
