NEXUS
UNIVERSITY

WHAT WILL YOU LEARN IN THIS PROGRAM?

Nexus University's Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) Clinical Nurse Leader program is designed to prepare nurses to assume leadership roles within one of two specializations: healthcare informatics and executive leadership.

Our MSN program builds off of your bachelor's degree education to prepare nurses with advanced knowledge. Through a combination of theoretical foundations, evidence-based practice and clinical experiences, the program develops well-prepared nurse leaders.

WHAT CAN YOU DO WITH A MSN?

While it's a relatively new role, Clinical Nurse Leader is an advanced position that focuses on a number of daily tasks: managing nursing staff, coordinating care, evaluating patient care and improving outcomes, and of course providing care.

Career options also include:

- Lead nursing teams
- Educate new nurses
- Participate in research

Demand for nurses at all levels continues to grow – especially nurses with graduate credentials. This demand has created a healthy outlook for MSN holders. Currently, the average salary for a Clinical Nurse Leader can range from $81,000 to $100,000+ annually.¹

Nexus University's Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) Clinical Nurse Leader program gives nurses the opportunity to lead nursing teams, educate new nurses, participate in research and more.

MSN QUICK FACTS

According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the average RN earns under $72,000 a year². However, the average MSN salary can quickly climb to over $100,000³. Online MSN programs also allow graduates to:

- Qualify for higher-level positions, such as directorships, undergraduate teaching jobs and more.
- Enroll in a doctorate-level nursing program.
- Take on more responsibilities, especially with physicians in high demand and short supply.
