

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Esteemed Jury of Design + Art Leaders
Set to Review 2021 CODAwards

MADISON, WI, April 8, 2021 – CODAworx, the hub of the commissioned art economy, has announced a field of 18 jurors selected from an international cross-section of the design and art worlds to review and select the winners of the 9th annual CODAwards. The CODAwards celebrate projects that demonstrate the most successful integration of commissioned art into interior, architectural, or public spaces.

Partnering with Interior Design magazine and The Architect's Foundation on the global awards program, CODAworx is committed to gaining recognition for outstanding projects that highlight collaborations between artists, design professionals, and other members of the project team. Last year's awards drew 465 submissions from 25 countries, representing $89 million in artwork commission budgets.

The 2021 jurors are luminaries in the fields of art, architecture, media, and design, including:

- Cindy Allen, Editor in Chief, Interior Design magazine (Brooklyn)
- Malene Barnett, Founder, Black Artist & Designer Guild (New York)
