

Be the Change. Become a Project Impact Mentor

The goal of Project Impact Mentoring program is to match the men in this program to men of their own ethnicity who are veteran teachers and school administrators in the K-12 setting. These mentors will walk alongside of these new teachers as they enter the teaching profession. The mentors will be with them until they attain tenure.

Scope of Work

Year One

Monthly 1:1 meeting with the mentee to answer questions, provide guidance, and answer questions the mentee may have about teaching and the school setting.

Year Two to Tenure

Minimum of 3 face-to-face or virtual meetings a year, organically agreed on based on mentee's need and mentor's availability. The mentor continues to answer questions, provide guidance, and answer questions the mentee may have about teaching and the school setting.

Remuneration

Year 1: Stipend of $1,000 per year per mentee

Years 2 - 5: Stipend of $500 per year per mentee

About Project Impact

Project Impact is a community outreach program of the College of Education at California State University in San Bernardino. This project is aimed at increasing the teacher pipeline in California, while at the same time working to help close academic achievement gaps in the K-12 settings through intentional recruitment, training, and deployment of minority male teachers (African American and Hispanic males) into the California classrooms.

Vision

CSUSB COE intends to increase the number of African American and Hispanic male teachers in the Inland Empire at the K-12 levels, with the goal of narrowing the achievement gap between African American and Hispanic students and their white or Asian counterparts, as well as increasing the number of African American and Hispanic students who go into the STEM disciplines.
