The Problem

When employees have a serious illness, they're often overwhelmed. Navigating the Canadian healthcare system was challenging before COVID-19, and the pandemic has aggravated the situation — making it more difficult than ever.

Organizations

- Long healthcare waits result in $2.8 billion in lost wages annually¹
- Companies spent $8.5 billion on disability coverage in 2020 and costs continue to rise²

Members

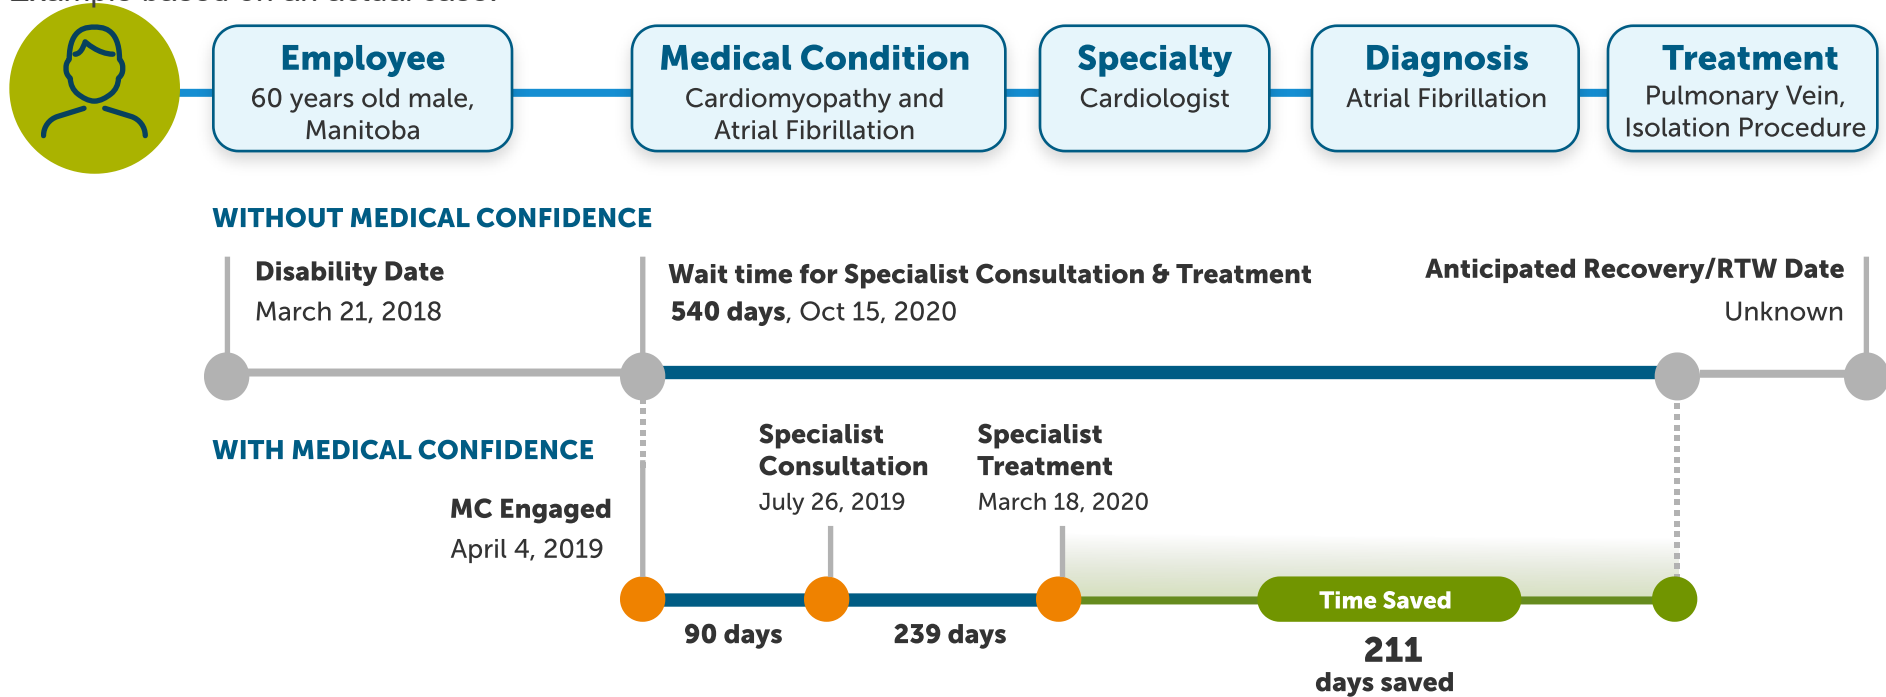

- 60% of employees report one or more chronic condition³
- 48% of employees experience delays in accessing treatment⁴

The Solution

Medical Confidence: Healthcare navigation that brings real results

Medical Confidence helps employees get the most from the Canadian public healthcare system by accessing the necessary and ideal elements and providers of care.

Example based on an actual case:
